

CONTRIBUTORS AND EDITORS

Dominador Bombongan Jr. obtained his Licentiate and Doctorate in Theology from the Catholic University of Leuven in Belgium. He is a former professor of theology at De La Salle University, Manila. Currently, he is the Director of the School of Ministry of the Diocese of Stockton in California, USA. Recently, he completed his PhD in Educational Leadership and Management at De La Salle University, Manila.

Rebecca G. Cacho is a faculty of the Department of Theology, Ateneo de Manila University. Prior to joining Ateneo, she was a theology professor, educator, and administrator at St. Scholastica's College, Manila. She earned her M.A. in Religious Studies at Maryhill School of Theology and a Doctorate in Education major in Religious Education at De La Salle University, Manila. She teaches in the graduate program of DLSU and was part of the Young theologians' group of the World Council of Churches. She had post-doctoral fellowships as visiting scholar in Katholieke Universiteit Leuven, Belgium and in Chinese University of Hongkong. She has published articles, textbooks for K-12 students and theology books, and has co-written theology books with Dr. Jose de Mesa.

Emil Q. Ibera III finished his AB Philosophy degree at Our Lady of the Angels Franciscan Seminary. He earned his Master's degree in Pastoral Ministry at the Inter-Congregational Theological Center. After a decade of engagement in development work in church-led organizations, he joined the Doctor of Social Development Program of the UP Diliman - College of Social Work and Community Development in which he recently obtained the degree, Doctor of Social Development. At present, he is a full-time faculty of St. Vincent School of Theology (SVST). At SVST, he teaches pastoral theology courses and serves as the Director of its Resource Center for Social Concern. His research interests include social development in indigenous communities, theology and spirituality in indigenous contexts, contemporary ecumenical initiatives, spirituality and sustainable development, and postcolonial studies.

Levy L. Lanaria is a married lay theologian. He finished his M.A. in Religious Education at the University of San Carlos Cebu City and Ph.D. in Applied Theology at the De La Salle University, Manila. He is currently a faculty member of the Department of General Education and Mission of the University of San Carlos. He is a member of Damdaming Katoliko sa Teolohiya (DaKaTeo), the Catholic Theological Society of the Philippines.

Ruben C. Mendoza is a married lay theologian. He obtained both his Licentiate in Theology and Doctorate in Theology (SThD & PhD) from the Katholieke Universiteit Leuven. He is an associate professor and the chair of the Department of Theology, Ateneo de Manila University. He is the president of Damdaming Katoliko sa Teolohiya (DaKaTeo), the Catholic Theological Society of the Philippines.

Randy Jasper Odchigue is a native Mindanaon, a priest of the Diocese of Butuan, Agusan del Norte. He obtained his SThD/PhD in Theology from the KULeuven, Belgium. Before his ministry in the academe, Fr. Randy ministered in a parish with mainly the Manobos and Higaonons in Esperanza, Agusan del Sur. He organizes an annual peace conference centered on issues about socio-economic and resource-based conflicts, alternative indigenous dispute resolution, and intercultural dialogue among others. Currently, Fr. Randy is the Vice-President for Academic Affairs of Fr. Saturnino Urios University in Butuan City. He teaches theology at St. John Vianney in Cagayan de Oro and Seminario Mayor de San Carlos in Cebu City. He is a member of Damdaming Katoliko sa Teolohiya (DaKaTeo), the Catholic Theological Society of the Philippines.

Manuel R. Pajarillo obtained his MA and doctorate (SThD & PhD) in Dogmatic Theology from the Katholieke Universiteit te Leuven in Belgium. He served as Professor in the Theology and Religious Education at De La Salle University, and as President of De La Salle Lipa and the University of St. La Salle in Bacolod. He is a member of the religious congregation of De La Salle Brothers, has served as Director of Continuing Formation in their Motherhouse in Rome, and is currently Vice-Chancellor for Research at De La Salle Lipa and professor of Moral Theology at the College of Law of that same institution.

Daniel Franklin Pilario is member of the Congregation of the Mission, a professor and present Dean of St. Vincent School of Theology (Adamson University) in Manila, Philippines. On weekends, he works at the dumpsite parish in Payatas, Quezon City. He has written books, contributed articles, and edited or co-edited several anthologies – the most recent are Philippine Local Churches after the Spanish Regime (2015), Faith in Action: Catholic Social Teaching on the Ground (2015), Second Plenary Council of the Philippines: Quo Vadis (2015), Theology and Peacebuilding (2018), and Asian Christianities (2018). He belongs to the editorial board of philosophical and theological journals – among them, Concilium: International Journal of Theology and Hapág: A Journal of Interdisciplinary Theological Research. He is also a former President and Founding Member of DaKaTeo, the Catholic Theological Society of the Philippines.

Rico Palanca Ponce, O. Carm. finished his Ph.D. in Empirical Theology at the Radboud Universiteit-Nijmegen, the Netherlands. He is the out-going executive director of the Institute of Spirituality in Asia (ISA) and the present Prior Provincial of the Order of Carmelites of the Blessed Titus Brandsma. His fields of interests are spirituality, pastoral and empirical theology, social teachings of the Church and research methodology.

Amelia Vasquez, RSCJ has graduate degrees in theology, with concentration in phenomenology of religion and the history of Christianity from Manhattanville College, Harvard University, and Weston School of Theology. She served as the Director and Dean of Sister Formation Institute (now Institute of Formation and Religious Studies), the Academic Dean of Maryhill School of Theology, the Executive Secretary of the Association of Major Religious Superiors and the Chairperson of the Asian Service Center for Religious Women and the formator and district superior of RSCJ. At present, she is the coordinator of the Spirituality Department of the Institute for Consecrated Life in Asia and is spiritual director at the East Asian Pastoral Institute.